Election/Restrictions

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

- 1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-34 and 38, drawn to an angiotensin derivative and the use of angiotensin derivative in combating disease associated with the renin-angiotensin system, classified in class 514, subclass 2.
 - II. Claims 35-37, drawn to a nucleic acid molecule coding for a linear angiotensin peptide, an expression vector and a host organism transformed with the vector, classified in class 514, subclass 44.
 - III Claim 39, drawn to a polypeptide immunogen that induces an antibody response in subject, which recognize epitope of angiotensin I, angiotensin II an/or angiotensinogen, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- 2. Inventions I, II and III are distinct. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the angiotensin derivative of Group-I is distinct from the polypeptide of Group-III. The polypeptide of group-III is used as an antigen that induces immune response in a subject that recognize epitopes of angiotensin I, angiotensin II and/or angiotensinogen, whereas angiotensin derivatives of group-I are used to modulate renin-angiotensin system. Furthermore, the angiotensin derivative and immunogen are structurally and functionally distinct molecules, which are further distinct from a nucleic acid sequence that encodes a linear angiotensin peptide. In addition, the polypeptide of group I and III are biologically active compounds that can be administered directly in a subject, whereas the nucleic acid requires an expression vector for the delivery of gene product in a subject. Thus, these inventions are mutually exclusive and are of separate uses.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37

CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).

canceled and/or added the applicants are advised to follow Amendment Practice under 37 CFR §

1.121 (http://www.uspto.gov).
